

Questions To CR James

Issue # 005

Hey man, how's it going. I just finished reading SLB [SuperLustButton.com], and to be honest, it is too mediocre for me. I mean, I was reading it and was agreeing with most of the things you say, but the problem is I ALREADY knew most of those things you wrote.

I am not a rookie in the field, and was expecting something superior.

Don't get me wrong, it is good advice, but you don't mention what to say or when to approach to get the girl.

I seriously thought there would be a script at least? Let's just take the following scenario: I am at a bookstore, and I see this amazing woman.

Your book doesn't tell me what to do next? What to say? How to open? How to attract? I was expecting something more step by step dynamic, out of this world.

Do you have any other ebooks that are unique and superb, entirely new techniques? Maybe The Laughable Answer? Pirate Seduction?

Sincerely,

[Charlie]

What's up [Charlie].

I appreciate the honest feedback...

To me, SLB (for the right person) is a game-changer... because it all starts with mindstate

((Some people really understand the value of mindstate. Some people aren't as interested in that... and just want step-by-step stuff.))

You know that..

If you're a step by step guy (and your goal is to approach women) then you should check out Super Approach Power (at SuperApproachPower.com)

And let me know what you think about that...

As far as "Pirate Seduction", that's not complete yet... technically Pirate Seduction is "Get Her Horny Volume 5)...

((So instead of calling it GHH Vol. 5, I wanted it to be a Treasure Of New And Extremely Powerful Information.))

Plus I'm not even sure if you are ready for that....

When I make Pirate Seduction available in 3 more months (August 2009), I feel sorry for all those on the sidelines...

Because the guys who "get their sneaky hands on Pirate Seduction" will be getting a woman's panties so damn wet that you can twist out enough juice to fill 2.5 Tablespoons...

Ah, now your speaking my language lol.

lol at the juice simile. It seems you already need to have a girl for PS? I am single at the moment. I will read it and let you know,

Thanks,

[Charlie]

=====

Note #1: You don't need the have a girlfriend or wife to use Pirate Seduction. You do need to use these tactics on a "woman".

Note #2: An actual woman will NOT be provided with your order of Pirate Seduction.

=====

[Charlie]: Hey CR, how's everything going? So I took the time to finally read SAP [Super Approach Power], and I just have to tell you, It is possibly the best ebook I have ever read with regards to step by step learning fundamentals on approaching; you have outdone yourself with this!!!

This is a huge improvement from SLB [Super Lust Buttons]. As a matter of fact, I don't see why SLB should not be incorporated into

SAP. To me, SLB was like a half version of SAP when I come to think about it lol. I especially loved the tips on observations and connections. ACT is a killer technique every guy should have, also is HIPS!

P.S- Laughable Answer vs. Pirate Seduction? What is greater so I know what to mark down on my "to get" list?

Peace,
[Charlie]

What's up [Charlie]..

I appreciate that man...

That means a lot coming from you b/c you obviously don't hold back with your reviews....

Laughable answer is not as step by step as SAP..if you understand the purpose of the lesson, then you'll realize that it can't be as step by step...

So I'm not even sure if 'you' would enjoy that, then again who knows... if you understand the concept and apply it, it's powerful...

If it's used the right way it can be extremely powerful...

Pirate Seduction is a work in progress (it will not be finished until August)... i want it to be WAY better than the previous GHH books ("Get Her Horny" books)... It's going to be a Treasure Of New And Extremely Powerful Information.

I think you're right about SLB... I might take your advice and give it away as a bonus for SAP....

From [Adam]

Mr. James, When you talk about building Sexual Value (especially through the value or competition of other women) are we talking about fabricating stories or enhancing the normal interactions that we have with women that are not our wives?

I find a story easier to tell my wife when the base is true and I just use some subjective interpretations as to what was implied by the other woman.

This may be a silly question. When I see my wife step out of the shower, I typically play it cool and act as if it has no affect on me. But, is totally ignoring her sending a signal that I don't care about sex? And, should I make the occasional compliment without being too explicit with my words and demeanor?

Is it possible to arouse a woman without any conversations about sex?

My wife has a complete detachment to conversations of a sexual nature (regardless of her mood, happy or not).

Description: Stay-at-home mom. 3 month old and 5 year old. She is exhausted at the end of the day and there is practically never a good time to have a nice free-flowing conversation. How do you seduce a woman under these circumstances?

Best Regards,
[Adam]

[Adam]

Great questions...

As far as your first question, the more truthful the story the better. Some guys have told me that they got great results from a completely fabricated story. And although, I don't personally take that approach and I don't even think it's necessary,

I don't completely advise against doing it - only because I prefer the philosophy of: "do what's effective to properly turn her on" more so than anything else...

I would rather some guy tell me that he made up a story that ended up getting her wife "mentally and biologically" prepared for lovemaking, then for someone to tell me that they pressured their wife into lovemaking fuel by complaining, arguing, anger, crying, begging or some other negatively driven force...

If and only if, those negative methods 'work', it's only because it has increased her compliance... In other words, those things are brilliant for the guy who is perfectly fine with just getting "Courtesy" Sex or "Here-You-GO-Lets-Get-This-Over-With" Sex

So I agree with you. It's actually easier to take tell a real story. If you're not Lazy About Thinking and you have just an ounce of creativity, you should NEVER have to make up a story out of thin air...

And by story (just to be clear), that includes:

- talking about interactions you've had with women before you met her (ie ex-girlfriends, a woman who was attracted to you, a woman you were attracted to, etc.)
- normal interactions that you will currently have with other women (ie female co-workers, neighbors, etc.)
- and other story-based tactics mentioned in other reports...

As far as the shower question, that will be driven more by the situation.

That's how you have to treat it...

As you know, you could end up giving her a compliment that ends up making her feel sexy and special and it could end up leading to a mindset of 'feeling sexy and special'... and then that mindstate could end up being "one" of the ingredients in the seductive recipe....

So it could effectively lead to sex (in an obvious and strategic way)...

OR...

It could work against you. For example: The compliment could end up "flat-lining" the sexual tension.

So it depends on the overall strategy. If you're trying to "engineer a craving", then the compliment will be the primary tactic...

You could [do a few things]...and get a more predictable result...

Just to be clear, "complimenting her (or not complimenting her) as she exits the shower" is just a TACTIC...

Just so we're consistent: a STRATEGY is a sequence of TACTICS...

So a tactic is only as good as how it fits in with "other tactics".... (i.e. the overall "big picture" strategy...)

Then from there, you have two types of strategies:

A long-term strategy: This is a recipe of tactics that may last anywhere from 2 weeks to a year (or longer).

For example: If a guy's wife is overweight and her response to that is feeling un-sexy, then he (among other things) should focus on TACTICS that are designed to get her motivated to lose weight. If he says something to her in January that starts the process of losing weight, and in May she's smoking hot because she's lost a lot of weight (and her response to that is feeling sexy about herself), then on that day in January, he just 'did something' that has affected his sex life for the future.

<< Other Examples Of LT Strategies: Increasing time spent together, increasing the quality of time spent together, increasing her energy level, helping her reduce stress, etc. >>

A short term strategy: This is a recipe of tactics that may last anywhere from 5 minutes to a few hours (or even up to one week).

For example: Any of the strategies that I teach in reports are short term in nature.

Saying something to her that affects her:

- Short Term Beliefs,
- Short Term Perceptions,
- Short Term Feelings
- Short Term Emotions

So a strategy can be thought of as a recipe of tactics (a teaspoon of this, a tablespoon of that...)

Take Care
CR James.

<http://SuperPowerMedia.com>

New

Pirate Seduction: Super Charged Edition

41 Ways To Get Her Horny (Using Lessons From Real Life Stories)

<http://PirateSeduction.com>

